REMARKS: You may want to give copies to FCS. Actually, John Rae said that if he had answers to all the questions bill raised we wouldn't have a problem. That, in essence, is the problem. A strike could take any of a number of permutations; no one can predict how it might shape up in the beginning or how it might change as it went along. If John gets the agreements he's seeking, we should have no serious concerns in the future. The NUJ is usually rather lukewarm, it was the AES that put the fat in the fire just before Xmas.

Rae also added that he thought Eill had too much time in his hands.
